

"Debunked Global Warming Hype"

*Cartoon by Glenn McCoy
Comments by John Ibbotson
02 January 2009*

When living in Alaska one of the most heart wrenching problems was kids going outside and licking poles.

If the kid had not already ripped the top off their tongue, it was then a case of carefully pouring hottish water over the pole until the tongue came lose. If it was really cold the hot water could also freeze which made the problem even worse...

So how come I find this cartoon sooo hilarious....

