

Ford Car Plant in Brazil

Click on the below link to view a video clip of a new Ford plant in Camacari, Brazil. It is Ford's most advanced assembly plant and looking at the video it is easy to see why; the technology, processes and policies are impressive! One look at this and you will instantly be able to tell what is wrong with the manufacturing plants of the US car makers and why there will probably never be another one built in the US. That is, unless drastic changes are made in government policies, local management and the unions.
