

Guillard and ALP won't change their spots

Limericks? Peter Brun penned this within an hour of the announcement.

Even Labor no longer backed Rudd
But we're still deep in socialist mud.
For whoever's in charge
it's the same camouflage
As they suck dry our national blood.

Beware, Guillard's life's a charade
Where democracy's just a façade.
We had better watch out
for our fate's not in doubt.
We'll be guillotined on her petard.

When the socialists see people's wealth,
Envy drives them to steal it by stealth.
And the do-gooders all
for the subterfuge fall
So it's wasted on National Health.

Our dependence on welfare's a farce,
But few care of what comes to pass.
As we travel to hell
through this welfare pell mell,
The burr'crats are trav'ling first class.

You should not let the media fool yer,
'Bout a ginger-head poli called Joolyer,
For you know it is said,
"don't let reds in your bed."
And never elect them to rule yer.
